The Centre for Effective Services in Dublin, Republic of Ireland, is seeking a senior knowledge and communications professional to develop our mission to promote evidence-based services for children, families and communities across Ireland.

Working with a multi-disciplinary team from backgrounds in human services, public policy and academia, we need a skilled communicator to lead our external relations function, helping us to disseminate learning about best practice to diverse audiences using a variety of methods. In-house, our specialist team needs a creative and dedicated senior colleague to manage and respond to our information and knowledge needs, and keep us up to date on all the latest international developments and thinking in our field.

If you have the talents and expertise to combine these functions, and are seeking a rewarding role in a unique and ground-breaking new organisation, see www.effectiveservices.org/careers for more details.

Closing date for applications is Friday, October 2nd at 5.00 PM.
